Question no: 2

What is a religious and sacred view of death?

Answer

A religious and sacred view of death is when a human being sees death as a kind of punishment for sins they have committed or as a way to enter another world, thereby giving death a spiritual and divine significance.

Question no: 3

What are the painful experiences described by the Monks in their book?

Answer

The Monks, in their books, described the painful experiences they endured by inflicting physical tortures upon themselves as a form of self-purification. This created the idea that the pains of death must be indescribably agonising.

Question no: 4

What are the views of Seneca about death?

Answer

Seneca, the Roman philosopher, believes that it is not death itself but the circumstances and ceremonies surrounding death that frighten people. These rituals, physical appearances, and societal reactions to death make it seem more dreadful than it actually is.
