

Question # 02:

The narrator speaks of peace as war makes no sense, in the modern age. A single nuclear weapon contain ten times explosive used in Second World War. It sounds inhuman when deadly poison spread in the whole world. Today a great economy of the world is wasted on these weapons which are used as a tool for peace. Peace is less dramatic than war and many turn their gaze away from peace, many think talking on peace, disarmament is useless as they face aggression from opponents. Apart from this, we should examine ourselves and our attitude towards peace. A lot of people think it is unreal and impossible which is dangerous. It also leads to a conclusion that war is inevitable. In the end our problems are manmade and by defining our goals peace seems more manageable and people can see it.

Title: "In search of peace"

Question # 03:

(i) Drought is an extended period of time with reduced rainfall resulting in drying of rivers. It badly affects the crop and animals die of thirst.

(ii) As the writer says 'A red sky in night...' which refers to a clear weather and 'A red sky in the morning' which refers to a storm.

(iii) Weather forecasting is a science known as meteorology. It refers to find out what will be the weather in several day's time.

(iv) As different things affect the weather and each needs to be studied carefully before making a weather forecast.

(v) As the moon holds alot of water, if the coescent sickle shaped moon lay on its back, it will rain heavily. If it doest not it is not raining.

Question # 04:

(vii) Your heritage is different from mine.

(ii) Allen Turing was a scholar, scientist, and an artistic.

(v) Tim let his son swim with his friends.

(i) The priest joined the bride and groom in holy wedlock.

(vi) He has a four years of subscription to that magazine.

Question # 05:

(A) A fly sat on the shafts of the cart and said to the mule who was pulling it,

"How slow you are; do mend your pace or I shall have to use my sting as a goad". "The mule was not in the least disturbed behind me in the cart", said. "He sits my master, he holds the reins, and flick me with his whip and him. I obey but I don't want any of your impertinence. I know, when I may dawdle and when I may not".

(B) (i) along

(ii) at

(v) in

(vii) from

(viii) along

Q NO 7:

A conflict raised in the book fair held in Lahore during these days. Several stalls were available where food and non literary goods were sold instead of giving attention towards books and literary activities which humiliated the real aim of festival. Many attendees were dejected and felt like Book fairs become a food place where less attention was given to books. Book selling should have been promoted instead of food stalls. A debate started whether this festival was completing its literary aim or it was promoting its commercial interests.

QNO6 (B)

The judge asked the plaintiff, that whether he was seeking compensation for wrongful termination. He replied that he believe he was unfairly dismissed. On further inquiry the judge asked he was released after eight months and he accepted it. The Judge further asked that employees with less than a year were not eligible for relief unless there is evidence of discrimination or a specific rights violation. According to him, his rights were violated. The judge denied to give relief under these grounds and he was speechless. The judge further added that his hands were tied by law and he thanked the judge and said that he can understand, after this the judge dismissed the case.