Eng. Comprehension Test 2

- Q1. The difference between human beings' fear of death and children's fear of darkness is that the former is heightened by hearing tales of the agony experienced by dying men whereas the latter is heightened by hearing tales of thieves and ghouls.
- Q2. A religious and sacred view of death involves a person considering death as a sort of penalty for his wrongdoings and as a process of entering a different world.
- Q3. In their books, monks have detailed agonizing experiences whereby they physically tortured themselves with the intention to purify themselves.
- Q4. Seneca argues that the events and rituals attached to death scare people more than death itself.
- Q5. The facts that make death appear more horrible than it would otherwise be <sup>are</sup> the conditions of a dying human and the events that surround death. These include a dying person's moans, his body's spasms, his face's lifelessness, as well as his dear ones crying and dressing in grieving clothes.
