Question-02

The author speaks of peace due to changed nature of war. In today's world of a nuclear arsenal that is way deadlier and poisonous than ever, a full war makes no sense. Lately, a hefty amount is spent upon these deadly weapons in order to keep peace - with hope that we never have to use them. In author's view, this is a futile and non-productive, approach. So, he calls for peace owing the rational nature of rational human beings. No one heeds to him, but the pursuit of peace with a right direction is the most urgent task at hand. The author perceives the attitude of both developed and undeveloped

Question - 06 (B)

The judge questions Thompson that was he seeking compensation for wrongful termination. Thompson replies in affirmative and says that he believed he was unfairly dismissed.

Judge enquires Thompson that were he let go after eight months.

Thompson answers affirmatively. The Judge states that under the law, employees with less than a year were not eligible for relief unless there was evidence of discrimination or a specific rights violation.

Thompson asserts that he felt his rights were violated. The judge says understandingly that without those grounds, he could not grant relief.

Thompson asks in dismay that was there nothing he could do? Judge replies that his hands were tied by the law. Thompson thanks the judge. The judge dismisses the case.
