

Title : " A True Sense of a Society "

From the time we are born, we depend upon others in order to fulfill our needs. In return we also provide services to others. We need our parents to grow up, teachers to educate and teach us how to live in this world. We need law to secure our rights and friends to lower our pain and to share our happiness.

Total words = 160

Precise words = 62

Other title : " Interdependence in a Society "