

Why nations fail?

Outline

a.

Introduction

b.

Thesis statement

There are several reasons that cause of the failure of a nation such as political instability, economic crisis, geopolitics, and so on.

c.

Causes of nations fail

i.

Political instability is a major cause.

ii.

Economic instability turn the nation into the way of economic crisis.

iii.

Compress the rights of minorities.

iv.

imbalance of civil-military relations, cause of civil war.

v.

Weak political institution.

vi.

Increased in corruption rate.

vii.

Different culture and values conflicts.

viii.

Government of nonstate actors.

ix.

Geopolitical instability deminish the growth of a nation

x. Climate change is another factor that harm economy, policies, and exports.

xi. External involvements in a country.

d. Conclusion

Japan has suffered recession since the early 1990s due to sluggish economic growth. This phase is a transition of a country, after a certain point, country can be re-developed their situations or the starting of downfall. Many countries has faced economic failure, democratic failure, and the other internal threats but they redeveloped their country and created sustainability and known as progressive state. Some of the major cause of the nations failure are political instability, It is the serious internal threat that affects the other institutions as well such as financial institution, judiciary, executives, and create chaos in a country. Another factor is economic instability, the utilization of resources cannot allocated appropriately and the generation of revenue proces slowdown. Compare the rights of minorities shows the mismanagement of the state leaders. The imbalance of civil-military relation established the civil war in a state and sometime it is uncontrollable to overcome this conflict. Moreover, weak political institutions is another internal threat due to the weak rule of law is regulating in the country. The weak rule of law is not only increase in crime rate but also increase in corruption that is also weaken the financial institutions system. Therefore, these are the threats that weaken the nation and causes of failure of states.

Political instability is the basic internal threat that starts to weaken the nation.

Non-cooperation in political parties and in-appropriate policy making causes this conflict. The dominance of a single party is raised this conflict. Another thing is the decisions are held on the personal interest instead of national interest.

As we take the recent example of Bangladesh, despite their sustainable economic growth, the political instability issues has raised. The students of the country were raising and fighting their rights and demolishing the government of Sheikh Hasina. Hence, the political instability is a big threat than economy and the other factors.

Economic instability turns the nation onto the way of economic crises.

It can be considered as the second most internal threat of a country. Economic instability is caused due to the mismanagement of resources, and lack of accountability. On other hand, utilization of resources and generation of revenue also the part of it.

As we take the example of North Korea, the lack of management and accountability is weakens their economy. The economic crisis of Sri Lanka were also raised due to their fiscal deficit and lack of foreign reserves led into debt default of Sri Lanka. So, economic sustainability and utilization of resources are the major causes of nations sustainability and instability.

Compress the rights of minorities can break the nation or fail the nation.

History has many examples of this, where the rights of minorities has compressed either the minorities separates their nation or the minorities fails the nation through default of it. The weak policymaking and weak rule of law and biased society can cause of it. For instance, the Indo-pak history of subcontinent, where muslims of indo-pak were in minority and the congress party ^{were} compressed their rights. Another thing is Nehru report that shows the suppressed of muslim rights. However, the compression of minorities rights in any state is the another caused of failure.

DATE: ___/___/20___