

DATE: 10/10/2024

PRECISTEST - IIITitle: "Man is a social animal"

Man is a social animal. He is dependent upon his fellow beings for the sustenance of life. Humans help one another meet basic survival needs such as food, shelter, and security. Furthermore, this symbiotic relationship also helps one thrive by ensuring a sense of belonging, social order, and a platform for self-actualization.

Word count: 52 words