

Q # 02

Precise

Title:

Nuclear War: A massive destruction

Precise:

Peace has more worth than war. Likewise, war also has no sense. The nuclear war has ten times greater effect than the Second World War. The deadly impacts of nuclear war has far reaching effects on the whole globe. The purpose of spending on weapons is not for peace rather the acquisition of stockpiles. Peace is rational and war is irrational. The enlightened peace is not only about world disarmament but a positive attitude towards peace. For that purpose, collective attitude is must. Makes every person to contribute in peace mission. Firstly, re-examine attitude of peace because it seems like impossible and unreal but it is not. Because man made problems can not be controlled by themselves. So, peace is not impracticable and war is not inevitable rather by making efforts it will become irresistible. (Words # 134)
