

QUESTION NO: 2

PRECIS

War is not preferable in this age of nuclear weapons. These weapons have unprecedented destructive power. Poisons from their explosions spread in the environment, affecting the current and the future generations. These weapons are acquired expensively and stored to ensure peace by nuclear deterrence. However, there are other more efficient methods of ensuring peace. Peace is the goal of rational men although its discussion is not as dramatic as that of war and is, therefore, ignored. According to some people, the efforts for peace are futile until the leaders of hostile nations become peace-loving. It is not true, as everyone needs to re-assess their attitudes.

Every citizen who wishes for peace should correct his attitude towards peace because many perceive it impossible. That is a dangerous belief as it implies that war is inevitable. This is not true. Peace is achievable if it is perceived more manageable and if people hope and struggle for it.

TITLE:- Prospects for Peace in the Age of Nuclear Wars

Question No: 3

Part i)

Ans:- Drought is the time period of unusually low rainfalls, which causes the scarcity of water for humans, animals, and crops. Droughts have many devastating consequences such as death of humans and animals, destruction of crops, food shortages, and migrations to other areas.

Part ii)

Ans:- NO, the writer does not endorse the popular sayings of about the red sky. According to him, these sayings are often more wrong. If they were true, people would not study about weather science and ~~meteo~~ meteorology.

Part iii)

Ans:- Yes, weather forecasting is indeed a science - It is called meteorology.

Part iv)

Ans:- Weather forecasting is not easy because there are various factors that affect the weather, including temperature, humidity, and atmospheric pressure. They all are required to be studied carefully before the weather forecasting.

Part (V)

Ans :- In early times, people thought that the moon controlled the weather.

They thought that the crescent sickle-shaped moon in the sky meant that ~~the~~ it ~~was~~ is ~~on~~ about to rain.
~~(correct)~~

Question No: 4

1. Allen Turing was a scholar, a scientist, and an artist.
2. Being thoroughly dissatisfied with the painting, I hid it in the closet.
3. Tim let his son swim with his friends.
4. He has a four-year subscription to that magazine.
5. Your heritage are different than mine.

Question No: 5(A)

A fly sat on one of the shafts of a cart and said to the mule who was pulling it, "How slow you are! Do mend your pace or I shall have to use my sting as a goad." The mule was not, in the least, disturbed. "Behind me in the cart," said he, "sits my master. He holds the reins and flicks me with his whip, and him I obey. But I do not want any of your impertinence. I know when I may dawdle, and when I may not."

Question No: 5(B)

1. Sam is going to the meeting in place of his brother, who has to work.
2. John called his brother in hopes of finding somebody to watch his children.
3. If you study the material very thoroughly, you will have no trouble in the examination.
4. We were walking in the woods when, all of a sudden, we heard a strange sound.
5. The course will commence on 1st May, 2025.

Question No: 6(A)

1. Elicit:- I cursed him very much, but it did not elicit any response.
Illicit:- He is arrested because many illicit drugs were found from his room.
2. Taut:- When he saw his score in the list, his face was taut with stress.
Taught:- Life has taught us many lessons.
3. Palette:- To paint a tree, I chose green color from the color palette.
Palate:- I have a palate for good food, so I only buy from KFC.

Question No: 6(B)

The judge enquired Mr. Thompson if he was seeking compensation for wrongful termination. Mr. Thompson, who was the plaintiff, affirmed politely, saying that he was unfairly dismissed. The judge asked him if he was let go after eight months. He agreed. The judge told him that under the law, employees with less than a year were not eligible for relief unless there was evidence of discrimination or a specific rights violation. To this, he ~~said~~ ^{exclaimed} that he felt that his rights were violated. The judge, sympathetically, said that he could not grant relief.

without those grounds. Mr. Thompson asked if there was anything that he could do. The judge affirmed, saying that his hands are tied by the law. Mr. Thompson thanked the judge, and the judge dismissed the case.

Question No: 7.

Recently, an issue emerged in a book fair in Lahore because, rather than focusing on books and literary activities, many stalls were selling foods, drinks, and other non-literary things. It dissipated the real purpose of the fair. Many participants were disappointed and felt that the book fair had mostly become a food market, where there is less focus on books, authors, and literary conversations. Due to over-concentration on food stalls rather than reading and selling books, a debate had started that whether this arrangement was fulfilling the literary aim or only the trade benefits were being given importance.