

Human Cannot live Alone

Human: Social animal

Humans are inherently interdependent on ~~each other from~~ ^{On one another} birth to death. we need assistance for basic necessities like food, shelter, clothing, education and livelihood. we depend on family, community, laws and social structure created by others. Even as adults, we require friends and social institutions to secure our rights and share life's experience.

Never write first person in the passage

3/26