

From birth, individuals are dependent on others for survival — relying on them for basic necessities. Livelihoods are interconnected with people benefiting each other. As children, they depend on parents for care and teachers for education. Laws made by ancestors protect their rights and friends give them comfort.

give a proper title at the top and word count at the end and read the basic rules of precis writing

0/20

also read basic paper attempting etiquettes