

DATE: ___/___/___

One another

Human beings are dependent on each other from birth, our survival is built on mutual labor. We rely on others to provide essential goods and we pay them. In childhood, we need parents for care, throughout life, we depend on teachers, books to learn. and laws made by past generations, need friends to comfort during sorrow and joy.

Title : The Interdependence of Human Life

Passage	Count	#	159
Precis	Count	#	58