The Essay

”تھے وہ بھی دل نے خدمتِ استاد کے لئے ”
”دل چاہتا تھا ہدیہ دل پیش کیجیے“
"There was a time in exchange for the teacher's service

One wanted that the gift of the heart he should present!!" - :Allama Iqbal:-

Every aspect of life needs bases/building block for their building and proper structuring. Similar is the case with nation. Every nation in this world who become powerful and strong have bases. Those bases are teachers who guide their students about every aspect of life: moral, ethical and developmental.

~~Teachers play a role of building block in the nation development and growth. They build future teachers and workforce that focus on an important aspect of every nation. Unfortunately, in modern society the respect of teachers lacking which is downfall of nation and also lacking in moral and ethical values. Teachers play a crucial role in moral, ethical and economical development of nation. It is necessary to ensure their support and respect in the society for national prosperity.~~

Teachers play vital role in building nation as teachers shape future leader and workforce in the society. A person who didn't know anything about the world became aware of world under the guidance of teacher. After completing different cycles of learning under the guidance of teacher that one student became leader with the skills learned from teacher and contribute in the nation development. In addition, teacher also plays vital role in differentiating knowledge and critical thinking. Teachers guides students about knowledge and critical thinking. Critical thinking helps students to examine things critically. It helps student to understand things for the life-time. Furthermore, teachers not only help student in worldly related knowledge. They also helps student in building their moral and character development. Teacher became role model for students. They teaches students related moral values and character building. Therefore, teachers play vital role in shaping future leader and workforce, impacting knowledge and critical thinking and building moral values and character.

Teachers also play vital role in supporting economic growth for the development of every nation skilled work force is fundamental. Teacher produced those skilled work force that help in development of economic growth.

Skilled work force plays vital / significant role in growth of nation. Secondly, Teachers also contribute in research and innovation. One of the important tool for economic stability and growth is innovation and research. So, in this regard teacher helps student to understand new things and research on new things that help students in their life especially practical / professional life.

It helps them to understand and adapt new things easily. Thirdly, teachers are like role model and motivational mentors for the students. At every mistake that is done by the student is highlighted by the teacher and they teach students about their weaknesses and console them in such a way that motivate students and become better person. They become role model and mentor for the students. There pose, teachers play vital / significant role in supporting economic growth, contributing in research and innovation and serving as role model and mentors for the students.

Respecting teachers have tremendous impacts on the society. Respecting teachers and valuing teachers enhances educational quality. In the modern society, teachers appreciation and respect is de-valued that's why educational quality is also lacking. When teachers are appreciated and valued they will automatically start loving their profession and this will enhance educational quality. Teachers put more efforts to make their teacher better and better which will help students greatly. Teachers are building block of national growth. If they are not respected and devalued then nation will face downfall and if teachers are appreciated and valued the nation growth and development would become faster. Therefore, respecting teachers enhances the quality of education that will boost up economy and development of nation. Respecting teachers also strengthens then moral and ethical foundation. As teacher become role model for the students so students wants to copy their teacher it will strengthen their moral and ethical foundation.

Student spends most of their time with their teachers in school, colleges and universities. Teachers become aware weaknesses of student and they guide students regarding it. Then student try to improve their weaknesses. Therefore, teachers play vital role in enhancing/strengthening moral and ethical foundation of students if they are respected and valued by the students.

Being respectful to the teachers also help in building knowledge based society. When teachers are respectful and valued by the students teachers would put more efforts in improving their teaching skills. In modern society, as they are less valued so the teacher's interest also demotivated.

towards students. But, when teachers are appreciated and respected by the society and students. Teachers will find new and better ways to improve their teaching skills.

teacher will teach student by heart and that will impact students too. in a better way. Therefore, respecting teacher helps in building knowledge base society. This will also contribute to nation building and growth of nation.

Respecting teachers will also impact highly to contribute in national development and stability. Teachers produce or help in shaping future leaders and skilled workforce. When these skilled workforce of students come into practical professional life, they become the major contributor of national stability and nation development. When the students who do not know anything about this world at start in college, school and universities off under the supervision of teacher become Doctor, Engineer, scientist, Pilot etc. They became one of the major source of national stability and national development. These Engineers, Doctors and Scientist are the production of teachers skills and efforts. Therefore, In this regard respecting and valuing teachers help in national development and stability.

With all those positive impacts of teachers in the nation building there are certain challenges to valuing teachers in the society. Firstly, the major challenge in teachers' efforts is low salaries and financial constraints. In Pakistan specifically teachers are accorded with the lowest wages around 15k - 30k. Teachers who gave their whole time like 7:00 am O'clock till 2:00 pm, Even in winters, summers, autumn, spring they are restricted to teach at school, After the whole month if they are accorded with only 15k - 30k wages. It will devalue their efforts and its heart breaking for them also. In this regard low salaries is major issue in teaching. Secondly, there is another financial constraints for teachers. Teachers are hired for 1 year for on 20k - 30k salary. In that period they are restricted to be punctual punctual and no leave granted such constraint are also demotivating teachers to teach students with great efforts. Therefore, low salaries and financial constraint are one of the major problem in teaching.

Secondly, another major problem is limited professional growth opportunities which also demotivate teachers in choosing such profession. In private schools, colleges and universities they are bound with rules/terms and conditions. In private schools or other institutions they do not offer extra benefits and promotion facilities to students. It also demotivate teachers. Because if a teacher put that much effort in building work force for nation and in return teachers are not awarded with even 5% of it. It will causes lack of interest of teachers in teaching and they will just teach student as per guidelines not with heartly interest.

Furthermore, In public governmental institutions there are some promotion packages but due to old teachers faculty members they do not are allocated or selected for the long period of time even if they sto teach student well or not. Still they get their full wages. In such circumstances there who loves to teach and want to opt teaching as profession become.

demoralise and quit to opt teaching profession and move on towards different profession. Therefore, limited professional growth opportunities is also one of the major hurdle in teaching.

Thirdly, Teaching workload is also another major challenge in teaching profession. Large number of classrooms in which 50-60 students is enrolled in one class. It becomes difficult for teacher to point out all student in the class related their weak points. Secondly, teachers are also asked / forced to be involved in other activities such as seminar, competition, functions and other activities. These activities put a lot of work load on the teachers and they could not put more effort / attention towards teaching. Therefore, workload on teachers is also another reason challenge for teachers.

Lastly, lack of support and resources is also one of the major challenge in teaching profession. Teachers are not supported by the institution. Teachers are not awarded with the resources that cause backwardness in educational quality. With the advancement in technology it there are many different and new ways in teaching but with due to lack of support and resources. It becomes the major hurdle and challenge in teaching profession.

There are certain steps that should be taken to elevate respect for teachers and fostering national growth. Firstly, there is a need in increasing teachers support and resources. Teachers should be supported by the governmental institutions and also provided with resources for the better educational practices. Different educational programs should be conducted at governmental level that admire teachers and along with that resources should be provided to teachers for better educational quality. Secondly, teachers should be involved in decision making policies.

As teachers have direct interaction with the students so the teacher are more familiar with strength and weakness of students. So, teachers can play vital role in decision making process of education. Thirdly, the teachers should be admire, and appreciated so that they put more efforts in teaching and improve their teaching skills. For example, teaching day should be celebrated at national level that will help in boosting up moral of teachers and they would love to teach student. Lastly, Teachers should be awarded with better financial benefits and increase salaries. Teachers are the one who build future leaders and skilled work force for the nation and they should be awarded with good wages and financial support. It is their due right to have adequate salaries. Therefore, these steps such as increasing teacher support and resources, involvement in decision making policy, admiration and increased salaries and benefits are necessary for teachers to build their motivation to teach students with more efforts and heartly.

To pen off, No doubt nation rises with respect for teachers. As teacher is the only person who build and become major part in nationbuilding. Teachers play backend of nationbuilding. Teachers play vital role in shaping future. They also helps teacher and knowledge and critical in imparting thinking; They become a major part in shaping moral and ethical values. Not only this but also contribute in economic growth. They are the real role model and mentor that build a successful nation. Although there are challenges regarding teachers respect and value. If they are addressed properly and action are taken they can be resolved.
