History is full of such successful people who ^{took} the start of their life from very difficult conditions. But later they were counted in the successful and renowned personalities of the world. Success, respect, and fame is not given to you in plate. Only wealth can be given to you in plate, for that a condition is must, that your grandparents should have wealth, then you will get it. With wealth you can buy worldly needs, but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes it takes decades for man to earn respect, a moment is enough to become aggressor or earn disrespect.
