

You are virtuous if the world doesn't pull you towards itself; your eyes tear up in the remembrance of God/Allah, and induce a sense of fear when you imagine hell; virtues pull you towards itself and you perform ^{your} worships like they are supposed to, and lastly, you abstain from vice. Some people are virtuous and some become one. Being one is a matter of good-luck. Constant struggle and self-persecution ~~(are)~~ is required to maintain this lifestyle. During which, one takes a lot of time and faces many hardships.