- 4- Soldiers want to win battle, not just get paid.

Title:- Money Is Not Everything

For well-educated, intellectual, or brave people, money should not be the primary goal in life. Their focus should be on their work or passion. For example, a soldier's main goal is to win battles, not just the pay. Similarly, a doctor primary goal is to cure patients, not just to earn fees. While money is important, it should not be the sole driving force behind one's actions.
