

The Educated People Prioritize: Work over Wealth

Well educated people don't prioritize money as main objective. All the healthy minded people focus on satisfaction of achieving money, which is more valuable than the money. As an illustration, a soldier wishes to win battles rather than salary. Similarly, a clergyman's aim is preaching instead of getting money. Doctors like fees, but their purpose is to cure their patients. All the educated people prioritize work over wealth.