TRANSLATION

History is filled with such successful people who began their life from very difficult situations but afterwards they were included in world's famous and successful personalities. Success, respect and fame are never presented to one in a plate, only wealth can be given in a tray. There is a provision for it that your forefathers should have wealth, so that it would be given to you. You can buy thing by money but ~~you~~ happiness can not be bought by money. It takes centuries, sometimes, to earn respect. Earning disgrace and being controversial needs only a single moment.
