Answer:

History is full of such people who started their life in extremely difficult situation, but they were included in world's famous and successful personalities afterwards. Success, respect and fame can never be served in plate; only wealth can be served like this, there is a condition for this also that your grandparents must be landlords then you would get wealth. You can buy materialistic things from money, but cannot buy happiness. Sometimes it takes decades for a person to get respect, but a moment is enough to get disrespect or being degraded.
