PRECIS TITLE: Prioritizing Purpose over money.

It is being argued in the passage that the wise people do not make earning money, their primary objective by taking dinner as an example, which is important for living but as a secondary aspect. The soldiers, the the clergymen, and the doctors work for the purpose of winning the battles, preaching and curing the patients, respectively. Although, they like to earn money as it is important but they make it their secondary priority and their purpose is the first. ~~prime~~ ^{comes}
