English Test-1

Title:

“Money is not the Primary focus for well-educated and intellectual individuals”

Money is not a Chief constituent for well-educated and intellectual individuals. No doubt, it is important to make money for survival of their life, but they always prioritize their work instead of fee. The writer illustrated this concept with the help of following examples: the main goal of good soldier is to win battles not just for the sake of money. Similarly, the clergyman never thinks how much amount will be paid for preaching. He just focus to accomplish his duties very well. lastly, if doctors need to sacrifice their fees to save a patient's life, they will not hesitate to do so.
