Q Precis

For all well-educated and brave individuals, money should not be primary object of life like how dinner is enjoyed but not obsessed over. Likely, people enjoy earning money, their main pursuit should be the value and purpose behind their work. A good soldier's mission is to fight well, not only earning; similarly, a clergyman aims to preach and baptize not only pay. Likewise, doctors while valuing their fees, prioritize curing patients over gain. For all dedicated professions, their work is primary, with money being a secondary thing.
