Money : A Second Choice to Work

A well-established and courageous person do not make money his first priority. He enjoys the way of earning money than the money itself. Likewise, money makes a soldier happy, but his main motto is to win the battle, so as a clergyman's basic motive is to preach. Money is complementary choice for an intellectual doctor, but his passion is to ~~save~~ ^{treat} a man. Overall, money is a secondary choice for a well-trained person.
