

History is full of such people, who started their life in such worst conditions. But at the end they were included in the list of well-reputed personalities. It is not possible to get success, respect and fame so easily. (Only) Money is the only thing one can get without hard work, along with a condition which is, it should be possessed by your forefather. You can buy the privelliges of world due to money but not the happiness. Sometimes it takes many decade to earn a good reputation (respect), but a single moment is enough to earn contempt.
