Title: Money: NOT The chief objective of life

The Author of passage says, It is not possible for rightly trained people to consider making money as main objective of their lives. Money is important and all right mind people like the feeling of achieving it but it is not the soul purpose, similarly a soldier it is important / or main aim to perform well in battles, Likewise religious scholars purpose is to preach religion not the reward they get in return. Same goes for doctors, for them fees is important but a well train<sup>d</sup> doctor's main purpose is to treat patient and he/she can for go his fees in hard times. so All well trained right minded people their work is their first priority.
