Work : The Main Objective of Life

Making money is not a core objective of a sensible person. No doubt earning money is a basic necessity of life. However, money cannot appreciate one's dedication to his work. The thing that matters is the sense of satisfaction one gets from his work. A lot of professionals dedicate their life to their profession. Their passion for their profession cannot be under-rated by their wage. So, work is always considered as a first priority by a healthy person.
