History is full of successful people who started their life in difficult circumstances but they were listed in the successful and famous personalities of the world in their life ahead. Success, respect, and fame never come readymade but money can be acquired which requires a certain condition that your ancestors be having held property then you can attain wealth. You can buy material things in the world with money but not happiness. It takes decades to earn respect, while it takes ~~decades~~ just a moment for defamations or controversy.

History is replete with exemplary individuals who commenced their lives in exceedingly challenging circumstances, yet ultimately became illustrious and renowned personalities. Success, esteem, and fame cannot be bestowed upon you effortlessly; only wealth can be inherited if you have ancestral assets. For this, it is also essential that your predecessors have left you some property, only then can you acquire wealth. With wealth, you can buy worldly possessions, but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes, it takes numerous years for a person to earn respect or fame, and it takes merely a moment to lose it by getting into a dispute or by
