English Test -1

Title: ~~The first~~ Primary Objective: The Work

A well-groomed personality, first and foremost thing is to do with their duties rather than flowering their lives. But to complete the duty one must be required to fulfill their need. While they enjoy earning money, their main concern lies in their work or mission. Every professional is wise and well concerned to their work, until they are well entertained and paid wisely. In all professions, their work is their primary objective, with financial compensation being secondary but still important.
