True Inspiration of ~~Proficiency~~: Beyond Pay

Individual of a strong moral values prefers the proficiency of ^{his} work over the money which should not be the only purpose of the man's life. People who works for betterment of the others and paying their ^{best}, do not pay attention to the reward in the form of money. And people who work for the money do not perform good. One should focus on ^{one's} work not on the reward. If reward is important, it should come second.
