"Work is the chief object
for a brave and intellectual man"

Too long title

It is impracticable for a well-educated and brave man to make money the key object of his life - as to make dinner the primary object for him -

Begin with short sentence

All healthy people do not make their dinner the main of their lives despite their likeliness - Similarly, they enjoy making money but remember that something is important than money. Thus, work is the first and foremost thing for brave and well-trained men than the money rewarded for it.

Give essence of examples

Suggested titles for today's precis

"Money is not the End"

"Profession as a priority over money"

Suggestions for improvements:

Do not make complex compound sentences

Begin and end precis with a precise/short sentence

Avoid enlisting
