Translation

History is full of <sup>such</sup> successful people, who have started their journey of struggles in a very miserable way, but in future they were counted ~~in~~ <sup>among</sup> world's successful and famous personalities. You will never get respect and recognition for free of cost, except the wealth that you can get it. However, for that, there is also a mandatory condition that it should be of your inherited wealth, then you will get it for free of cost. With wealth, you can buy material things, but cannot buy happiness. Sometimes, people take centuries to earn respect. For earning disrespect or becoming a controversial person a moment is enough.
