

History is full of the successes of the people who started their lives in difficult circumstances, but they became successful and renowned personalities of the world with the course of time. Success, respect and fame are never handed to you in a silver platter. It is only the wealth that can be served to you in a silver platter. ~~There is a precondition~~ ^{There is} for you to earn wealth in a platter, only when your forefathers own it. You can earn material possessions by wealth, but not the happiness. Sometimes, it takes a man decades to earn respect; it takes ^{just} a moment to earn humiliation or become controversial.
