why rewrite the main passage again????

One night Abou Ben Adhem woke up from a peaceful dream. He saw an angel writing something in a book. He asked her what she was writing. The angel said, the name of those who love the God. He inquired if his name was in the list. She said no. He then requested to be listed among those who love the mankind. The next day his name was on the top of the list among those blessed by God.

Love For Mankind.

title at the top and word count at the end

precis exceeds word limit seems like you have written the whole passage again precis is supposed to be the crux not the detail 0/20

need improvement

there is no word count title is written at the bottom read the basic rules again
