The history is full of successful men, who started their life in very difficult conditions but later on they became a part of successful and famous personalities of the world. Success, respect, and fame never ^{are never served} serves in a plate to you, only, wealth can be ^{served} serve in a plate, and it ~~has~~ also has a ^{compulsory bid,} that ~~you~~ your ancestors should have property, then you will get it. From wealth you can buy basic goods, but not happiness. Sometimes, it takes many centuries to earn respect, and takes a ^{to} bit to ~~become~~ ^{become} disrespect or controversial for human.

History is replete with exemplary individuals who commenced their lives in exceedingly challenging circumstances, yet ultimately became illustrious and renowned personalities. Success, esteem, and fame cannot be bestowed upon you effortlessly; only wealth can be inherited if you have ancestral assets. For this, it is also essential that your predecessors have left you some property, only then can you acquire wealth. With wealth, you can buy worldly possessions, but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes, it takes numerous years for a person to earn respect or fame, and it takes merely a moment to lose it by getting into a dispute or by committing a shameful act.
