Title: Money: NOT The chief objective of life

The author of passage says, It is not possible for slightly trained people to consider making money as main objective of their lives.

Money is important and all right-minded people like the feeling of achieving it but it is not the soul purpose. Similarly, a soldier it is important / or main aim to perform well in battles. Likewise religious scholars turn to preach religion not the reward they get in return.

Same goes for doctors, for them fees is important but a well trained doctor's main purpose is to treat patient and he/she can for go his fees in hard times. so All well trained right minded people their work is their first priority.

Just give an essence of examples
