title is written at the top not the end where is the word count ???

It is impossible for an educated, intellectual, ~~or brave person~~ to prioritize making money just as it is unreasonable to make money the main focus of life. While healthy people enjoy their meals, it is not their life's purpose. Similarly, healthy minded individuals should enjoy making money, but their primary aim should be something greater. A good soldier seeks to fight well, not just to be paid. Likewise, clergymen and doctors prioritize their duties over their compensation. For brave and well-trained individuals, work and duty come first, with compensation being important but secondary.

Title: "Prioritizing purpose over profit" precis exceeds word limit and it is full of useless details of the same point cut sentences mean the same thing be precis and to the point need improvement title at top and word count at the end 5/20 not satisfactory
