

Essay

Topic: Benevolent Dictatorship
is Preferable to a Corrupt Democracy.

Outline

A. Introduction

1. Introductory Statement
2. Thesis statement: Corrupt democracy is preferable to a benevolent dictatorship.

B. Body

1. Definitions:
 - a. Definition of a democracy
 - b. Definition of a dictatorship
2. Proposed arguments which support that a corrupt democracy is preferable to a benevolent
dictatorship.
 - a. Democracy is an inclusive system where majority of the people participate.
 - b. People live under the laws which the majority has made for them.

c. Democracy advocates for rule of law, justice and freedom.

d. In contemporary era, democracy is considered rationally a sound system.

e. A democratic system can't be fully corrupt.

f. Democracy ensures the participation of all rather than the few.

3. Proposed arguments which support that a benevolent dictatorship is preferable to a corrupt democracy.

a. A strong-leadership in a benevolent dictatorship can lead a country to a fast prosperity. (Effective system)

b. Dictatorship is more transparent system than democracy.

c. Fewer in rule, in dictatorship can lead to nation-wide prosperity.

def. History ~~is~~ tells that dictators have ruled the world.

4. Proposed arguments which support state that the proposed arguments against democracy are not feasible:

- a. Democratic ^{decision-making} system is though slow but it never undermines the majority.
- b. It may face corruption but it can be challenged in democracy, not in a dictatorship.
- c. Modern time doesn't welcome dictatorship because of its tyranny.
- d. Majority rule, majority participate and majority contribute in nation-building.

C. Conclusion.

Human-beings have been living on earth for thousands of years. They have experienced different various kinds of government system. From ancient Rome to a modern state-nation system. Human-being have also witnessed the blessings and curse of all types of government. Among those systems, dictatorship and democracy are two different and opposite systems. Human-brings have experienced these two also, & however, both carries pros and cons in the systems, but democracy has more advantages in modern era for the mass of people than a dictatorship.

Every system possesses shortcomings; a transparent and thoroughly benevolent dictatorship cannot be found in books of history and a pure and crystal democracy also cannot be witnessed in the world.

Comparing a benevolent dictatorship and a corrupt democracy, a corrupt democracy is more preferable to a benevolent dictatorship. In democracy, it ensures inclusion of mass, rules of law, freedom and accountability.

Democracy and dictatorship are two different forms of governments. Democracy is a system where elected members in houses represent masses, make legislation for them and contribute their parts for the country. On the other hand, dictatorship is a system where an absolute power remains in hand of one dictator. A single ruler decides the destiny of a country and people. The single ruler suppresses all opposition at any cost to remain the head of the state. In contrast, democracy encourages all citizens to freely and fairly participate to decide about their fate. Their elected members also can be brought under law, if they found him/her guilty. In short, democracy and dictatorship are as opposite systems to each other as day and night.

Democracy is a system which ensures the inclusion of all citizens. As Abraham Lincoln has quoted that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth. It explicitly shows the significance of a democratic system where all citizens try their level best to decide the future of a state by participation.

Democracy encourages the participation of all people.

The inclusion of people is meant in all levels; tehsil level, district level, provincial and nation level. This inclusion is also meant that people from different classes can participate equally. In last, democracy is the only system which allows the participation of all citizens.

~~Democracy~~ In democracy, people live their lives under those laws which their elected members have made for them. The real beauty of democracy lies here. The best policy is that when the policy makers listen to the effectees. Elizabeth Dole.

This is the reason that democracy is symbolized a more secure system where accountability is a key feature in it. People are found more satisfied in such system than a monarchic system where are treated exclusively in decision making. To be precise, democracy allows people to live the lifestyle according to their will.

Democracy, similarly, without any discrimination advocates for rule of law, justice and freedom. It treats every citizen equally. On other hand, a dictator is always above the law. No one can challenge his/her power. On the In contrast ~~the~~ democracy treats every citizen fairly. A system where from prime minister to a common folk, everyone is be accountable before the law, that is why rule of law remains supreme. In conclusion, democracy can be said the system of rule of law with no discrimination.

Modern era is the era of democracy. Most of the countries in the world specially the latest, follow democratic system. It shows its feasibility. If the system were less effective than a dictatorship, the democracy would not be globally known. In fact it is not only prominently known but also applicable. It is the very sound system and form of government for the interest of masses.

10

rather than few people. It can be stated that democracy is more rationally feasible system than a dictatorship.

Moreover, democracy may not be found thoroughly pure form of government around the world, however, it is the only contemporary form of government with the least defects than a dictatorship. Corruption can be everywhere in various forms of democracies in the world but, it possesses a counted pillar of accountability also where the responsible ones will be stood before the law to answer. On other hand, "dictatorship, corruption may less or more, but none can dare to challenge the monarch because of his/her absolute power. In last, democracy is more transparent system where ~~other~~ anti-democratic factor be challenged and it shows the less possibility of unstoppable / unaccountable corruption.

11

The following paragraphs will support a benevolent dictatorship preferable to a corrupt democracy.

A strong leadership is key to effectiveness of a government in dictatorship. In dictatorship, decisions ~~and~~ ^{can} be taken fast without any delay. As it is said, "Justice delay is ~~a~~ justice denied." In this form of government every decision is taken fast which help the government to serve the people faster than democracy. A strong leadership is key to the prosperity of all people of a country. Under his/her absolute power, the delays will be ~~not~~ reduced because of little complexity of a system. On other hand, in democracy a single decision-making process sometimes take years which leads the country vulnerable. In short, it can be stated that a strong leadership leads to an effectiveness of a system which ensures the service faster in dictatorship than democracy.

12

~~In democracy, a~~ single Dictatorship is more transparent than democracy. The whole system lies in the hand of one person and his/her selected ones.

There is less possibility of corruption, however, in the democracy, majority of the people participate with different interests who lack ~~the~~ the motivation to remain transparent for the good of all. It is observed that democratic states ^{more} suffer ~~more~~ from corruption than dictators' ones.

In dictatorship, fewer rule which ultimately leads prosperity of all. When power is divided in the hands of fewer rulers, there will be less complexity when it is divided among many; democracy. History ~~has~~ ~~is~~ is also the witness the prosperous eras were the eras of dictators when his/her fewer rulers would decide for the people. In contrary, democracy has been badly criticized for its inefficiency and red-tappism (bureaucratic complexities). In short, dictatorship has always been a pro-service form of government for people rather than democracy.

The following arguments will state that above arguments are less rational and are no more feasible in modern time.

Democratic ^{decision-making} system is though slow but it never undermines nor suppresses the majority. Democracy provides a framework for every kind of activity to perform. It comes along ...with a proper system. It takes time to circulate anything i.e. bills for decision-making to attain the consent of majority. It is though time-consuming but it will not exclude the participation of citizens whose future is being discussed. It never allows one person to unofficially commit any outlawed activity. It is the charm of a democracy which is with inclusion of all class rather than a dictatorship.

Democratic form of governments may be corrupt partially but it can be challenged, however, in dictatorship, there exists one-man show. Democracy is the real form of government which keeps and treats all citizens equally. If anyone ~~is~~ ~~tries~~ commits a crime or does ~~at~~ corruption, he/she will be accountable. In dictatorship the few with power and authority enjoy the power, however, the public suffers.

In democracy, majority of the people rule, participate and contribute in nation-building. In contrast, the dictators ^{only} rule, participate and contribute ^{to decide the} ~~in~~ future of a state. There is no such divine power or decree given to anybody to be the suppressor of millions of people just to keep and maintain the power. In last, democracy is the government of masses for ~~the~~ masses, however, dictatorship is the government of a monarch over masses.

To make a long story short, democracy has been far better than a dictatorship. Human-kings have experienced various forms of governments. By the comparison of above mentioned two forms of government; democracy blesses people with rule of law, accountability, free & fair elections, freedom and justice, however, dictatorship bless the people effective service, ~~to~~ more transparency and less complexities of a system that hinder the development of a country. Above all these, modern era is the perfect example of feasibility, stability and its applicability to serve the majority of people and masses of the country. It can undoubtedly be stated that a corrupt democracy

Date: _____

18

Day: _____

is more preferable to a
a benevolent dictatorship.

The End.

Brain-storming

Benevolent dictatorship
is preferable to a corrupt
democracy

Dictatorship	Democracy
① Rule of a dictator	✓ Rule of Law, Justice
② Cruel system	✓ A complete system can't be
③ Exclusion	✓ Inclusion
④ Rationally unacceptable	✓ Rationally acceptable
⑤ Participation of few	Participation of all
⑥ Few beneficiaries; selected ones only	Majority of them
⑦ Dictator is the law	✓ Majority is authority.
⑧ Non-acceptable in modern era; an isolated state	Acceptable; social state

Pro of Demo

- (i) slow but with consent of majority
- (ii) Majority is served rather than being marginalized like in dictatorship
- (iii) Best feasible for all

Cons of democracy

- (i) Slow system; ~~to~~
- (ii) Minorities are ^{marginalized} neglected
- (iii) Least efficient
- (iv) Transparency.