Essay

Pakistan is losing its valuable asset, that is its skilled and educated youth to the spark of outside world on an alarming rate. Brain drain is the worst of all the problems Pakistan is facing right now but still not taken seriously. Today's youth leave any place where they feel triggered or consider as a hindrance in the way of their bright future. When a state fails to provide a hope for a better future where everyone can achieve their dreams, only then brain drain takes place. According to a report of Paradigm Shift, 3 million people left Pakistan in the last 5 years. This pace is very alarming and needs to slow down and if not taken on a serious note, it will prove to be a biggest hindrance in the prosperity of Pakistan in the near future. The biggest causes leading to brain drain are political instability, low wages, lack of professional opportunities, and corruption. This results in facing consequences like blow to economy, loss of skilled people, lack of innovation, and psychological and social effect.
