

Brain Storming

Outline

I - Introduction

a - Hook

b - Supporting sentences

c - thesis statement

II - Causes

a - lack of opportunities

b - low standard of life

c - low salaries for overqualified

d - political instability

e - limited access to good education and research facilities

III - Consequences

a - No skilled workers

b - Less economic growth

c - less industrial growth

d - brain drain cycle

e - Poor Policy makers

IV - Conclusion

Essay

DATE: _____

DAY: _____

"Brains like the hearts go where they are appreciated."

We have often heard this term, "youth is an asset of a country", so a country whose population is surpassing 240 million where 60% of the population ages between nineteen to thirty one; should flourish economically, socially and politically. But our talented brains are being appreciated, somewhere else, because we do not have enough opportunities to meet the demands of such talented youth bulge. Therefore, a huge number of skilled workers go abroad in search of better economic opportunities to improve their standard of lives. A country with such crisis should revisit her policies to end this vicious cycle of brain drain. Political instability, poor policies, limited jobs and poor quality of life is making our country lose the skilled human capital which ultimately makes the country more vulnerable to less

DATE: _____

DAY: _____

economic growth and overreliance on remittances for ~~short~~ short term economic revival. ✓