Preci Writing:

The colonized ^{people} and colonizers are both affected by the imperial hierarchies psychologically. The colonizers cultivated a civilization narrative that naturalized their authority, portraying themselves as benefactors and the colonized as beneficiaries. However the colonized people internalized and negotiated imperial norms, often feeling ambivalent towards the structures that oppressed them. This complex relationship has led to a fractured post imperial consciousness, with differing interpretations of history.

Suitable Title:

The Divided Legacy of Colonialism

or The Psychological Impact of Imperialism

Read the passage carefully

2. Ans: The passage suggests that charity distribution in karachi is ineffective due to lack of verification, transparency, of recipients needs. Many donors give without verifying if the recipients are truly in need, leading to waste and misuse of charity.

3. Ans: The writer is highlighting how some people uses charity, treating it as a business opportunity financial gain has become more important than ethical or religious values rather than a means to support someone who is in a dire need. This phrase suggests that these individuals prioritize financial gain over the spirit of charity.

4. Ans: people like Bashir's family might hesitate to stop collecting charity because they have become accustomed to the additional income and may fear losing a financial safety net.

write 4-5 Sentences

5. Ans: The passage implies that unchecked charity practices can lead to dependency, waste and misuse of resources. It suggests that true dignity lies in self-sufficiency and building one's own identity, rather than relying on charity or other financial help. This passage highlights the need for more effective and transparent distribution of charity so that a person who genuinely in need can receive the charity.

Punctuate: As the rain outside, the detective turned to the suspect and said, "I know you're hiding something." The suspect looked away, then muttered, "what makes you think that?" "Your silence, for one", replied the detective. "Besides, you were seen near the warehouse that night!" "That's impossible!" he snapped. "I was out of town!" "Really?" The detective leaned forward and placed a photo on the table. "Care to explain this, then?"

The suspect stared at the image, his eyes narrowing. "Where did you get that?" he whispered. "That doesn't matter," said the detective. "What matters is the truth."
