"The evolving situation of Pakistan's Civil Service"

The Civil Service in Pakistan is associated with public service. But now it is not only as a path to serve the nation, but also for security, social prestige, personal obsession, and now for self branding on social media. However in comparison with private sectors Civil Service is the name of stability, dignity, societal respect and approach to power. For other it becomes an obsession by spending their valuable time, money and intellectual health, just to succeed in this exam, although only few in them get succeeded. Now they are trying to serve the nation by showing it on social media to achieve fame, and become a medium of communication. So they are stuck between the social fame and serving the nation. As a result, it is important to understand that whether
