

General instructions to be followed to pass essay

M T W T F S

1- Spend time on rightly comprehension of the topic, you won't pass the essay unless and until you addressed the asked part

2- Try to make your main heading in the outline from the words in the question statement

Brainstorming

3- Try to add hook in the introduction. The length of introduction must be of 2 sides

4- your topic sentence in your argument must be aligned with the ending sentence

5- Avoid firstly, secondly, thirdly etc. in outline

6- add references in your arguments with need to proper source. Go for diversification of provide references

7- Do not add new idea or point in Conclusion

8- You won't pass the essay if make more than 4-5 grammatical mistakes Provide proper headings

9- outlines that are not self explanatory or does not aligned with the essay statement are liable to mark 0 and the essay would become null and void

ENGLISH ESSAYS
"Everybody is a genius. But if you judge a fish by its ability to climb a tree, it will live its whole life believing that it is stupid" - Albert Einstein.

Working on Einstein's wisdom and how it should be instead

① - Work around ones
own strengths

② - Trust instinct

③ - Elon Musk example

Proving Einstein's statement with :-

① Children's future

② - during job hunting

③ - in CSS preparation

④ - Science

⑤ - Sports

⑥ - Religion

⑦ - Business

⑧ - States

⑨ - Teachers

OUTLINE

1. Introduction:

a) Hook

b) General Statement

c) Thesis Statement

2. A Einstein's Statement Proves True

a) During Job Hunting Phase

(2)

M T W T F S

One cannot understand your points. What are you trying to prove?

i) Frustration at not finding the right fit job

ii) Compare culture

iii) Not doing what makes one happy but fulfilling unreal goals.

b) ^{In} Business endeavours

i) Chewing more than one can handle

ii) Following tips and tricks that could only work for others.

iii) Multiple business crashes ingrain lack of confidence

c) Sports :-

i) Performance anxiety

ii) Stuck in the loop of a failure mindset that shows consecutively in the playing.

iii) Friction with team-mates.

d) Religion :-

i) Believing oneself to be unworthy of God's blessing

ii) Comparing blessings and convincing oneself to be cursed.

iii) Development of atheistic mindset slowly

e) Science :-

i) Judging amounts of scientific research with colleagues incubates the toxic practices of pushing oneself too hard.

ii) Giving up altogether

~~iii)~~

(f) CSS preparation :-

(i) Expecting unreal scores in all subjects

ii) Comparing progress

iii) Not adopting own strategies but working around stereotypical schedules.

(iv) losing passion.

g) Teachers :-

(i) Example of the book 'Dead Poet's Society'.

ii) Results in teaching with no heart

iii) Doubt their instinctual abilities of making concepts easier.

(h) Students :-

(i) Destroying future of a nation

ii) ~~Sucking~~ Nipping talent in the bud.

(i) States :-

(i) Production and export gets discouraged

ii) Lack of trust declines economic performance

iii) Soft powers mellow and country can no longer fall back on tourism or diplomatic nature.

3B Einstein's Wisdom Put to Work And How It Should Be :

- a) One's own strengths put to the test.
- b) Trusting instinct instead of following.
- c) Elon Musk example of applying his own thinking in his rocket building project.

Your arguments are proving nothing.

4) Conclusion.

The Essay

Mary Temple Grandin, now deemed an ethologist and an inventor, had received in 2010 a place in the Time 100, a list occurring annually of the hundred most influential people of the world in the 'heroes' category. She went on to be awarded many medals and

⑤

M T W T F S

10.5

Don't provide case studies in your introduction honorary degrees from renowned universities, but the truth of the matter is that she is an autistic savant. It is a syndrome that separates a normal mind on the grounds of ample social and intellectual impairment, but also exceptional understanding of one or two disciplines or domains, such as math or arts. In Grandin's case, she could learn and never forget what she learned only through visual understanding, but that gave her grave suffering in the subject of French growing up. She avoided social scenarios as she had the tendency of repeating words or phrase incessantly, and once while recalling her high school and middle school years, she had said her classmates would call her 'tape recorder'. In 2012, she state about these incidents, "I could laugh about it now but back then it really hurt" (Article in Colorado Women's Hall of Fame).

Despite this phenomenal lack, Temple's Grandin's mother never gave up on her. Later her science teacher saw her aptitude for the subject and gave her the boost she needed, and till date she has made colossal inventions in the livestock industry. One may say Miss Grandin counts to be luckier than thousands as she was not a judged fish and was not judged by her ability to climb a tree, when it most mattered and by the people it most mattered from. Today, by most standards, the custom goes that if one is not a genius by default ~~in~~ in one endeavour, he is ultimately a loser in all endeavours for life. Albert Einstein's saying proves true with the job-hunting journey, in business, sports, religion, science, during the CSS preparation, with the teachers, ~~and~~ students and between states.

Your language is good. But you don't have any idea regarding argumentation

As gruelling and brutal as the job-hunting journeys ^{already} are, they are made more unbearable with the compare culture. This process instead of being enlightening and eye-opening makes one wishing for his eyes to be closed. There is the customary comparison to the job-hunter's cousin, who apparently has the best job that ~~is~~ one might begin to believe is curated exactly around his needs and not the other way around of having to adjust to the job requirements. This opens up the flood gates of self-doubt and thoughts not being good enough. Next follow the non-stop reviewing and addition in the CV. There are documents upon documents of edited and discarded research letters and essays in his devices, paired with a cluttered confused mind. He ends up taking advice that deep down he knows will not work for him, setting goals for himself that he has not gauged for himself properly. Contrary to the mind boggling acceptance of this culture, Oprah Winfrey, who was born in poverty, and if she had judged herself abilities by those standards said that ~~no~~ one may definitely find purpose in life if "you align your personality with what your soul actually came to do, you can't help but be successful."