(Part II)

- (Q #2) -

Lincoln as a fresh lawyer, once had to present the case before judiciary. His opponent was a strong & experienced lawyer who put his points legally. When Lincoln's turn came he stood & said calmly that how judiciary could be influenced by someone who doesn't even know how to wear a shirt. He directly spoke about the opponent's shirt buttoned up back. This ad hominem used wisely made him win the case. History shows that people use this trick of ad hominem when they don't know how to win an argument, as the rivals of Roosevelt used ad hominem against his govt policies that they are individual oriented rather than nation.

The meaning of True bravery beyond fighting is that ~~enemies~~ ^{armies} often on battle field spare life of their enemies create a ~~lessons~~ ^{to inspiring lessons}. The story also suggested how armies helped in their enemies in war-domain by hard transformed rivalry to life long friendship. ~~Before enemies~~ True bravery is considering ~~enemies~~ rivals as human.

~~(IV)~~

The act of kindness & courage affect relations between enemies as clearly illustrated by all examples. Human by nature are soft and kind hearted creatures and they prefer peace over war, but only when the opposite did so. This remained of me of the story of two sisters-in-law who always fought & eventually when one's son injured the other's woman son, they got re-united and cursed the naughty kid.

~~(V)~~

If Franz Stigler had shot down Charles Brown's B-17, he would have died and the story of their friendship would never exist.

Two little frogs were playing about at the edge of a pool. When an ox came down to the water, to drink, and by accident trod on one of them, and crushed the life out of him. When the old frog missed him, she asked, his brother, "Where he was?" "He is dead mother!" said the little frog. "An enormous big creature with four legs came to our pool this morning and trampled him down in the mud." "Enormous was!" "He was!" "He as big as this," said the frog, puffing herself out to look as big as possible. "Oh yes!" much 'bigger' was the answer, the frog puffed herself out still more. "Was he as big as this," said she. "Oh! yes yes mother, much bigger," said the little frog and yet again she puffed and puffed herself out, till she was almost as round as a ball. "As big as," she began, but then she burst.

—(Q # 7)—

I wish I could replay those games like the Tipcat, the Hopscotch, and hide & seek. If those old days revive we will be able to feel those precious moments of happiness and carefree and happy moment again. We ran on streets with friends, fought on nonsense and refriended again. Those days are memories now & heart ache for such moments when life was simple, happy and carefree.
