Title: ad hominem: Technique to Demotivate opponents

Writer reflects on the scene of British court room where defense lawyer criticize on the opponent lawyer to counter his logical arguments. Lincoln was a young lawyer. In his first case, his opponent was experienced, legally. Lincoln noted his opponent appearance, he was wearing 1840's shirt with buttons on back. When Lincoln spoke he criticized on shirt of opponent by saying, jury will not be impressed by a person who do not know the front side of shirt. Lincoln won the case by this ad hominem technique. Which was not ~~old~~ new. Socrates criticism on the health of President Eisenhower, and criticism on Franklin Roosevelt by his opponents, was actually use of ad hominem by opponents.

Two little frogs were playing about at the edge of a pool. When an ox came down to the water to drink and by accident, trod on one of them. And crushed the life out of him. When the old frog missed him, she asked, his brother, "Where he was?" He is dead mother, said the little frog. An enormous big creature with four legs came to our pool, this morning and trampled him down in mud. Enormous was he, was he as big as that? said the frog, puffing herself out to look as big as possible. Oh yes, much bigger was the answer. The frog puffed herself out still more, was he as big as that? said she. Oh yes, yes, mother much bigger, said the little frog. And yet again, she puffed and puffed herself out till she was almost as round as a ball. As big as? she began, but then she burst.
