Two little frogs were playing about the edge of a pool. When an ox came to the water to drink and by accident, trod on one of them and crushed the life out of him. When the old missed him, she asked his brother where he was. "He is dead," said mother "The little frog."

An enormous big creature with four legs came to the pool this morning and trampled him down in the mud.

"Enormous was he? Was he as big as this?" said the frog, puffing herself out to look as big as possible. "Oh yes," much bigger was the answer. The frog puffed herself out still more. "Was he as big as this?" said she. "Oh yes, yes mother. Much bigger," said ~~she~~ the little frog and yet again she puffed and puffed herself out till she was almost as round as a ball, as big as she began but then she burst.

Alas! we cannot play tipcat, seeking treasure, jumping game and hide and seek.

If those days could come back, we would feel ~~to~~ that joy and carefree moments. We would run, laugh and play with our friends in the streets, and would mind petty controversies.

These days became just a memory now, and we always miss these memories when life was simple, modest and carefree.

According to the text Ahsan Malik was assigned to defend the village of Kamalpur on the East Pakistan border with 140 soldiers from 31 Baluch. He set a great example of bravery and honour. His counterpart even requested an award for him. Later, he was awarded with Sitara-e-Jurat for his brilliant courage and honour.

Forty years later, both pilots Charles Brown and Franz Stiglar reunited. Their friendship lasted till their death. It was a great example of bravery along with morality. Franz Stiglar fought but never forget the basic principle of humanity.

The story suggests that a true fighter keeps humanity and morality alive. No matter who they are fighting. Their courage and upheld morality have saved countless lives even in the war.

Act of kindness and courage significantly affect the relationships of between former enemies. For example: If Ahson Malik had not been courageous, he would have not been ~~requ~~ given an award, and if Zahid had not saved Najj, he would have for sure been dead. That is why, act of kindness changed their latter friendship with former enemies.

If Fromz Stigler had shot down Charles Brown's B-17, their friendship story would have not even existed. His act of kindness manifested his courage and morality beyond the battlefield. It inspired generations to preserve dignity of war itself also.

Once a defence attorney in British court was had an argument in a case trial against Lincoln. He was given a note by his porter to play with ad-homenism which is called a non-harmful one. In his very initial case he had a case trial argument with an expert defence attorney. His opponent gave impressive points and Lincoln ~~ironically~~ addressed the jury by ~~telling~~ praising his opponent's performance and then ironically taking their attention to his opponent's dress buttons. This baseless story is famous for a long time which is objectionable. US history contains other examples too in this regards. Eisenhower health and further four years presidency
