Two little frogs were playing about at the edge of a pool, when an ox came down to the water to drink, and by accident, trod on one of them. When the old frog missed him, she asked his brother, "Where he was?" "He is dead, mother," said the little frog. An enormous big creature - with four legs - came to our pool this morning and trampled him down in the mud!" "Enormous was he?" "Was he as big as this?" said the frog, puffing herself out to look as big as possible. "Oh! Yes, much bigger," said the little frog, and yet again, she puffed and puffed herself out till she was almost as round as a ball; and big as she began but, then, she burst.

If only we could play those games again Were that we could play those games such as Stick-ball, Treasure-seeking, Happy Tapis and hide and seek. We would have felt merry making and moments of ease. had those nostalgic days returned. we would have played in the streets with our friends, laughed and forgotten Petty squabbles during the play. Those days have become only as memories today. And heart often feel the lacking of those moments when life used to be simple, pleasant and borrow-free.

According to the text, Captain Ahem Malik was assigned to defend the village of Kamalpur during 1971 War. He was given 140 soldiers from 31 Baluch to defend this village on border of East Pakistan.

Q2

American Pilot Charles Brown and German Pilot Franz Stigler reunited after 40 years. They became friends and their friendship lasted until death.

Q3

The story suggests that true bravery is beyond fighting. True bravery means maintaining humanity and ethical principles of war. Even your worst enemy ought to be treated humanely and ethically.

Q4

Acts of courage and kindness

Profoundly affect relationships between former enemies. It helps in forming friendship and forging strong bond between former enemies. It also helps in saving lives. The story of two pilots is an example how acts of courage and kindness cemented their friendship until death.

Q5

If Franz Stigler had shot down

Charles Brown's B-17, Brown would have been killed immediately at the war helpless and at the mercy of Stigler. Their story would not have been worthy of mention at all in history books.

It would have been lost in many stories of warfare where Killing and blood-letting is a common phenomenon. What set this story apart was an act of kindness by Stigler where he refused to take down a helpless enemy.
