

M. Usama, Saleem. 2020/2021

The Role of Women in Political & Economic Progress

Outline.

1. Introduction.

The progress of any society depends on its people whether they are men or women. Women makes half population of a society, if it becomes efficient and progressive, it is important that women also takes part in political and economic progress. It can be done by restructuring of social norms and by providing equal opportunities to women.

2. Role of women in contemporary political and economic fields.

3. Barriers in Women's political progress.

- Cultural and social norms restricting women's participation in politics.
- Unequal access to political platforms.
- Lack of education and leadership opportunities.
- Harassment and safety concerns faced by women in politics.

4. Barriers in Women's Economic Progress.

- a) Gender pay gap and wage disparity faced by working women.
- b) Limited access to education makes opportunities less for women.
- c) Societal stigma against women pursuing careers.
- d) Difficult for women in working in male dominated workplaces.

5) Overcoming barriers in Political Progress

- a) Implementing gender quotas for providing equal opportunity.
- b) Increasing access to education and leadership training for women.
- c) ~~Creating~~ ^{Creating} safe environment to prevent violence and harassment.
- d) Promoting cultural change through media.

6) Overcoming barriers in economic progress.

- a) Enforcing equal pay laws for women.
- b) Implementing policies for work-life balance like parental leaves.
- c) Establishing workplace reforms by creating helplines.

7) Conclusion.

world well. M.

Introduction:

118

Any society ~~with~~ having half of its population in home is actually stagnating its progress. It creates burden and pressure for other half to provide. When ~~the~~ society as a whole starts to work, it results in rapid political and economic growth. Women are facing a lot of barriers in economic and political fields like cultural obstacles, unequal participation and harassment issues. These issues can be satisfied by proper reforms and restructuring of a society. Furthermore, the progress of any society depend on not only men but also women. In order to progress, the women must work equally with men. It can only be done by restructuring of social norms and by providing equal opportunities to women.