

TEST-03

Q.N02:

1. Sensationalism in media contributes to the public confusion about facts by prioritizing click-worthy content over accuracy, spreading misleading information and amplifying misinformation.
2. Media's framing of issues imparts people's ability to understand complex topics by shaping public perception in a way that over-simplifies complex matters or perpetuates binary narratives that confuse individuals.
3. The constant exposure to information in the 24/7 news cycle affect critical thinking by making it difficult for individuals to process and make sense of the vast amount of content. It leads to the cognitive fatigue that reduces the people's ability to think critically and analyze information.

4. The conflicting cultural messages from media in the form of advertisements, entertainment, and news content based on contradictory values influence societal expectations by portraying unrealistic standards.

QNO3.

1. Conformity
2. Exhaust
3. Dilute
4. Harden
5. Encourage
6. Weaken
7. Decrease
8. Hopeless
9. Small
10. Augment

QNO1:

Title:

Concept of Sportsmanship

Points of the Given Paragraph:

Sportsmanship is a way of dealing and interacting with others including both authority and opponents. It comprises four elements including being good, will to win, equity and fairness. A balance between these four elements is needed but if a clash occurs and athlete becomes a self-centered man it can lead to a conflict. In today's competitive sport culture, the sportsmanship has taken a back seat because the standards are now set by elites and they become role models. Bad winner is the example of the poor sportsmanship who acts in a way after winning that made his opponent less worthy and it is worse than being a sore loser as it can lead to demystifying efforts.

Number of words in Passage: 464

Number of words in prectis: ~~199~~