asked the reason and said that he thought he was doing well in his role. John told him that there had some budget cuts and they had to let a few people come. It was really unfortunate to him. Bob considered / exclaimed it as a terrible story; Jake had been there for years. He further asked how he was taking it. John said that Jake is not taking it well according to his understanding. He was shocked and frustrated. John further told that he had tried to reach out to offer support, but he was still processing everything.

Bob exclaimed with sorrow that that was too hard. And said he hoped that he bounces back soon. It was always tough when someone you had worked with for so long had to ^{come} (go) through that.

John replied in the affirmations that it was a tough reality. Said further that they would miss having him around the office. He just hope that he lands on his feet soon.
