

The role of women in Political and Economic Progress

Thesis statement: women play pivotal role in political and economic affairs in global arena. However, they are facing several challenges owing to patriarchal society. Therefore, preventive measures need to be taken in order to mitigate these challenges.

Outline:

I. Introduction

II. Role of women in political and economic progress an overview

III. Women role in political and economic progress:

A. Compete equally with man in political and economic affairs

B. Women play leading role in global affairs

C. Participate in politics to safeguard women rights

D. Represent their state as chief executive

E. Operate their business as independent women

F. Women are the backbone of a nation

IV. Challenges faced by women in political and economic domain:

A. Women are harassed in politics via different tactics

B. Men's biasness toward women in politics

C. Viewed inferior by their male counterpart

D. Women are prone to fraud in business

V. Way forward to mitigate inequality and unfair treatment towards women:

A. Empower women in letter and spirit

B. Equal treatment towards women in politics

C. Create awareness among women regarding business fraud

VI. conclusion

Essay:

Prophet Muhammad (S.A.W.) first wife was Hazrat Khadija, who was a business woman in the era of Arab paganism. Despite the era of Jahilya, she used to do business and earn her bread and butter. Therefore, looking back towards history, one can analyze that despite such kind of circumstances, women used to do business and contribute to society. Whereas in contemporary era as well, women have played pivotal role in political and economic progress in the world. That's why they are competing with the men, also, they are playing leading role in global affairs. Further, they are participating in politics, representing their respective states as chief executive, operating their business, and in fact, they are the backbone of a nation. On the contrary, women are also facing various challenges, due to men biasness, also, they are harassed in politics. Furthermore, they are viewed as inferior beings; they are prone to fraud in business. That's why preventive measures need to be taken by empowering them in true essence, providing them equal treatment, and creating awareness among women regarding fraud in their businesses. Thus, women play significant role in political and economic affairs of the world. But, due to male patriarchal society they face various conundrums. In order to tackle unfair treatment towards women, innovative policies need to be adopted in order to protect their interest.

To start with, women role in political and economic progress in global arena. Women have played pivotal role in various domain. However, they have played great role in political and economic affairs as well. That's why they have shown their potential by safeguarding women rights and representing their states. Moving forward, economically also they have made themselves capable in order to earn their bread and butter. But they are facing several challenges owing to their gender. So, these challenges need to be dealt with innovative methods in order to eradicate these challenges.

Further, women are competing equally political and economic affairs. The

The rationale behind this phenomenon is that women are creating history by each passing day. The way they are creating wonders in political and economic affairs. Furthermore, European Union is headed for the second time by a female, who has come with a new plan to counter Chinese Belt and Road initiative; via Global Gateway (GG) that will be an European infrastructure which will counter the Chinese dragon. So, women are showing their potential with extreme zeal in global arena.